NO SUCH BUSINESS OUTLOOK IN YEARS.

Visiting Buyers Throng the Rooms of the Merchants' Association and the Markets of the City.

The Work of Bringing Them Here Will Go Right Along and All Hope That Prosperity May Prove to Be No Vain Illusion.

Enthusiasm grows at the offices of the Merchants' Association over the tide of incoming buyers. All yesterday the spacious rooms were thronged.

Out-of-town merchants came in to get their reduced rate tickets, toll of goods they had bought and talk business.

Others, who were not yet through buying and sight-seeing, dropped in to write letters home, send telegrams and telephone.

coming. First, agriculture is pre-eminently prosperous. This will give plenty of money to the farmers; secondly, money with the farmer means the opening of milling industries.

I have come to New York at this particular time because the reduced rates effected by the New York Merchants' Association. Heretofore it has been cheaper for me to go direct to Boston and there do my business. I have bought $20,000 worth of goods in the last few days. I have bought, anticipating an advance.

Indiana.—Shannon, Peters, dry goods.—Business conditions are excellent. The wheat crop is large and is moving at a good price, and corn is doing well. Money is coming out of its hole and is beginning to circulate freely.

Iowa.—Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—C. P. Howe, dry goods.—Business has picked up a little, but we depend largely upon the corn crop for our ready money. This year's crop will be one of the largest for years.

Kansas.—Parsons, Kas.—F. Kohler, jeweller.—Parsons is a railroad town. The railroad shops are open, giving employment to 500 men. The factories are also running full time. The favorable reports from farming sections produces a universal good feeling and business will advance.

Massachusetts.—Boston, Mass.—E. P. Osgood, dry goods merchant.—The dry goods trade in Boston has not been flourishing. I read that the Western and Southern trade is taking new life this season. The agricultural prosperity I am buying goods, feeling confident prices will advance.

Michigan.—Traverse City, Mich.—Frank Hamilton, of the Hamilton Clothing Company.—Local conditions are improving. The good feeling permeating the entire country will bring about a good Fall trade. The Michigan State Business Men's Association is active, and nothing will be left undone in our state to bring about a revival of trade.

Minnesota.—St. Paul, Minn.—B. L. GOODKIND, dry goods.—Business is unusually good for this part of the year, and I believe it will continue to improve.

Missouri.—St. Joseph, Mo.—A. W. MORRIS, men's furnishings.—The agricultural conditions have seldom been more favorable, and the new tariff law has helped us some. There is a general air of prosperity all over the State, and farmers and merchants are alike happy over it.

Louisiana.—Lafayette, La.—H. D. Dawson, dry goods.—Business conditions in St. Louis are good. I look for a still greater share of prosperity for our section during the coming year.

Kansas City, Mo.—C. A. Newman, boots and shoes.—The crop outlook in our region is excellent, and general business is doing well. I believe that with a good crop and fair prices we will soon have old-fashioned good times in Kansas City once more.

Nebraska.—Fairbury, Neb.—Joseph Sarbach, general merchandise.—This is my initial visit to New York. Heretofore I have been doing all my business by mail. The reduced rates brought me here. I have seen a great variety of goods on sale for lower prices.

Arkansas.—Fayetteville, Ark.—H. C. Ucker, general merchandise.—This is my first visit to New York. The reduced rates influenced my coming. Fayetteville is a young town of about 7,000 inhabitants, growing rapidly, and has felt none of the general depression. This Fall we expect to do the best trade in our history. A number of factories have been built adjacent to the town in the last few months, and they will be in full operation by September 1.

California.—Los Angeles, Cal.—Mrs. J. M. Erdman, millinery.—I left Los Angeles for Chicago, where I intended buying for my Fall trade. Arriving there, I was informed of the reduced rates to New York City extended as the result of the movement of the New York Merchants' Association, and here I am.

Georgia.—Macon, Ga.—Alexander Wachtel, clothing.—Macon is in a highly prosperous condition. The merchants expect a good Fall season. Last Spring business was better than for years.

Illinois.—Rockford, Ill.—S. K. Ashton, dry goods.—We are all hopeful. The farmers report big crops, and with continuing favorable conditions they should have more money to spend this Fall and Winter than for several years.

Chicago, Ill.—S. Guthman, clothing.—My life of trade has been unusually quiet for some time. I hear lots of talk about a big Fall business, however. The New York market for tailoring materials I think possesses more vitality this season than ever. Prices are somewhat higher. This will help business somewhat.

Chattanooga, Ill.—Fred Bushway, dry goods.—Business is getting better.

Springfield, Ill.—Henry Thoma, dry goods.—I wish I could say that business was better than it has ever been, but I am not sure. However, the New York two or three months we shall have beneficial results from the new tariff law.

Indiana.—Rochester, Ind.—W. H. Stoddard, of the Rochester Shoe Company.—Good times are a hint for slender women.

Will improve 'Em immensely.—American Woman's Home Journal.—To-morrow.

IF YOU ORDER IT TO-DAY YOU'LL BE SURE TO GET IT.
